HEBER FOURTH WARD

The Heber Fourth Ward came into being on April 13, 1947 when the Third Ward was divided, and Bishop J. Linden Chapman was sustained to lead the new ecclesiastical unit. Chosen as counselors were Almon G. Clegg and Verd Murdock. Jay O. Johnson was ward clerk. Later Vestus Mahoney was sustained as second counselor to replace Verd Murdock who moved away. Max Lawrence served also as an assistant ward clerk.

For eight years after the creation of the ward, members shared the Third Ward meeting house. However, during those eight years they were busily working to raise funds for construction of their own building.

Work on the new Fourth Ward Chapel began in April of 1953 on property that had been donated to the ward by the Bert T. Coleman family. The site was the corner of Fifth South and Second West.

Working together, the members of the ward strove diligently to raise the $131,853.14 cost of the building. By entertainment events there was raised $8,965.58, and by direct donation, $39,176.96, making a total cash contribution of $48,142.50. Donated labor amounted to 12,191 hours, valued at $17,784.03. Cash for paid labor totaled $15,610.98, and materials cost $80,674.10.

One organization, the Relief Society, was given special commendation by the bishopric for their efforts in the building fund. By sales of quilts, through bazaars and special banquets they raised a total of $2,500 for the new chapel.

The new building was completed, paid for and ready for dedication

JOSEPH F. SWAIN AND LACY E. WATSON

Joseph F. Swain was born April 20, 1886, at Salt Lake City, to Robert Henry and Sophia Johnson Swain. They later moved to Buysville. Joseph worked at the Harry Watson ranch, below Charleston, for seven years. Five days after his marriage to Lacy E. Watson, daughter of Harry and Ella Watson, he left on a mission to the Eastern States.

He attended College at the USAC one year. He worked at the coal mines in Castle Gate, was state road man in Wasatch County eight years, then in 1931 was made supervisor of county roads.

He worked in many Church positions, and was first counselor to Bishop Joseph A. Orgill for some time. He was called by the government to take care of some C.C. work in Bryans Fork, and later in Dixie, Washington County, with more work in making many roads, and helped to make many boys do better. He was a very wonderful person, helping all he could. He fought in many forest fires. He died at his home in Provo July 18, 1942, and is buried in Heber Cemetery.

Lacy Watson Swain was the oldest daughter of Henry Fowler and Ella Murdock Watson and was born in Park City on November 14, 1893. She has been president of the Primary and of the Relief Society and in the stake Relief Society. In Provo she was president of the Third-Sixth Ward Relief Society. She worked for 15 years for the D.T.R. store after Joe died. Her son Harry died April 27, 1953, of leukemia, leaving his wife and two children

Their children were: Jay, Dortha, Pauline, Harry, Mina, Mack and Ernest Bartell, whom they reared. She has 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.
